FACTS AND FANCIES

By Frank Fairborn

It's the Little Things That Count—

Small favors are thankfully received, and larger ones in proportion—the cave-in and pitch-hole extending clear across the GRIMSBY Mountain road has been fixed at last, after six weary, dreary weeks of bumping for over ten thousand automobiles and trucks.

Early in May a portion of the GRIMSBY Mountain Road caved in from some unknown cause, and formed a bad pitch-hole clear across the road—it remained in that condition up until the Twenty-ninth day of June (and during that period all the ordinary traffic and all the detour traffic from the Highway, consisting of thousands and thousands of automobiles and heavily laden trucks, has bumped through and over this pitch-hole—despite the fact that the Reeve of the Township had communicated with the County Road Superintendent and had assurance of that gentleman that Foreman Oliver would have the pitch-hole repaired at once—but it was never repaired.

Several vigilantes in the price of good roads, and road engineers and road foremen who have not got vigilance are of no use when it comes to taking care of roads.

It is the little things that go wrong with the big roads that cause the most annoyance to the travelling public—one bad pitch-hole in a stretch of good road will do more damage than a dozen pitch-holes in the same stretch of road; and for this reason—if a road is a bad one, a driver figures his speed accordingly, goes easy and takes care of his car. But, one bad piece in a good road, comes as a surprise to everybody and breaks springs, damages goods, injures cars and injures people as the result.

I cannot understand how a road foreman or a road superintendent is constructed, mentally, who will allow a bad hole in a road to remain for weeks and even months, when he must, every day of his life, know that it is there.

If I had charge of a piece of road, or a system of roads, I would not rest until a pitch-hole was fixed, after I became aware of it.

A road superintendent cannot be blamed if long stretches of road become cut up into small dips and ruts; but when a bad pitch-hole is formed and he knows of it and allows it to go long unattended, he is certainly to blame, and to be blamed severely.

A pitch-hole is very easily repaired, as for instance, the one on the GRIMSBY Mountain road—it could have been fixed in one hour after the cave-in took place with one load of pit gravel which could have been secured within a quarter of a mile of it, or with one load of fine broken stone, which could have been secured within a mile of it; yet it remained there for six weeks, to the detriment of over ten thousand automobile and truck owners as well as to the detriment of drivers of drays and other vehicles.

The road systems of this country will never be right until we are able to secure men as engineers and as foremen who will have the interest of the travelling public deep at heart;—men who will be anxious to remove the little troubles that are so annoying, and yet so easily repaired.

It is of no benefit to the public that a road foreman is busy constructing a new piece of road—the public cannot drive over that new piece of road and they are not concerned how busy the foreman is upon it.

But they are mightily concerned with the bumps, ruts and pitch-holes which are left for weeks in stretches of road, and which could be fixed in a few minutes or hours by a foreman who really was trying to protect and serve the public.

A Wave That Will Peter Out
At a Dominion bye-election in the Province of Alberta, the Government candidate was beaten by the Farmer candidate by a majority of over eight thousand, in a constituency where there was a big city vote and where the Government expected to carry the county by a safe margin.

Of course, certain political newspapers claim that this was a bad crack at the Government, but as a matter of fact the Government had little or nothing to do with bringing about the result.

The big vote for the Farmer candidate was simply the result of the wave that is passing over Canada at the present time, and which is finding vent in a big vote almost everywhere for Farmer candidates.

The question of whether the Farmer candidate is the better man, or the question of whether the Farmer candidate's policy is the better policy, scarcely enters into the matter at all—thousands and thousands of men go to the polls and vote for the Farmer candidate irrespective of whether he is the better man or represents the better policy.

This 'wave' will pass all over the Dominion and by the time it has completely swept over the Western Provinces and is actually beginning to work in the Province of Quebec, it will have begun to die out in the Province of Ontario and the day will begin to dawn when the old parties will 'come back' and probably within ten years time the Liberals and Conservatives will be the two contending parties in the Province of Ontario, if not in the whole Dominion once more.

Waves of this kind sweep over countries and carry, sometimes, all before them; while at other times that do not have such success, but secure a very large following—but in time the interest dies out and politics jog along to about the same old tune as formerly.

Take for instance the United States—for two or three presidential elections the silver question cut a tremendous swath and thousands upon thousands of men rushed to the polls and voted for candidates irrespective of their personal qualities, and irrespective of what their general policy was, simply because they called themselves candidates for a silver coinage standard.

Of course these silver enthusiasts were defeated two or three times for the president's chair, and now we hear no more about them.

At one time or another similar waves have passed over the United States, but today politics in that country are either controlled by the Republicans or the Democrats both in state and federal elections.

So it will be in Canada—the Farmer wave is at its height now and it will sweep forward and with out a doubt in the next federal election the Farmers will elect the largest group of candidates in the House—they may not elect a majority, but they will certainly elect a very large group and probably a group as large as the other three—Conservatives, Liberals and Labor.

It is impossible to stem this tide, or wave, because men vote on the enthusiasm of the moment, without any consideration, whatever, of the ability of the candidate or the strength or soundness of his policy.

No great harm will come as a result of this wave—and perhaps much good may come of it; but one thing is sure and that is that in the Dominion House, as in the Ontario House, the Farmers group will fall far short of being able to fill or satisfy the high hopes held out for them when first elected.

In the Ontario House the Farmer group is a large one but outside of about three men the farmers are never heard of—and one of these men is not a farmer at all.

The three we refer to are Premier Dewar, the Minister of Agriculture, Hon. Manning Doherty and the Attorney General, Hon. W. E. Roney.

Outside of these three men, the Farmers in the House cut no figure and take little or no part in the proceedings.

These three men run the game and they run it a great deal more as politicians than as Farmers—the only reason they have succeeded so well is because the last Provincial Election was so organized the Conservative and Liberal parties that almost by mutual consent the two political parties have allowed the Farmers group to jog along in their own way, up to date.

And this state of affairs will probably last through the next two sessions—what conditions another Provincial General Election will bring about it is hard yet to foretell.

GOVERNMENT FRUIT FARM SURVEY

As is clearly shown above the land investment comprises the great bulk of the capital invested in the fruit growing business. One of the factors that has an influence in keeping down profits in the smaller farms is that of high investment in live stock, machinery and buildings. As live about $2500. The small size of the former forced the owners to operate as to get an large an income per acre as possible in order to acquire a living and a profit. The

Capital	No. of farms	Average size of farms	Average labor income	Average capital invested	Net farm income
Under $5,000	10	14 acres	5,497	755	1035
$5,000-$10,000	15	15 acres	9,800	1,225	1215
$10,000-$15,000	17	16 acres	11,225	1,535	1535
$15,000-$20,000	16	19 acres	15,712	2,035	2225
$20,000-$25,000	23	20 acres	17,490	2,395	2425
$25,000-$30,000	21	24 acres	24,473	3,195	3125
$30,000-$35,000	17	27 acres	28,554	3,995	3655
Over $35,000	8	32 acres	74,132	3,247	6955

The above table is another method of expressing the influence of size of farm as size of farm invariably means more capital invested where all farms are growing the same type of products. It may be noticed that the second and third groups have the same average size. This is partly accounted for by the better class of buildings and the third group which have raised the value of those farms without having any effect on the productive capacity of the farms which is best shown by the net farm income.

It may be interesting to compare the labor incomes of this Niagara district with other types of farming studied by this department. In the table below will be found a comparison of the labor incomes of Niagara district in 1920 with those of dairy farmers in Oxford in 1919, and with mixed farmers in Dufferin in the same year, which was relatively speaking as prosperous a year for those farmers as 1920 was for the fruit grower. The comparison is made on the basis of capital invested as it is quite plain that no proper comparison can be made on size of farm.

Capital	Average size of farms	Niagara (dairy farming)	Oxford (dairy farming)	Dufferin (mixed farming)
Invested
Under $5,000	1-2 ac.	755	61 ac.	755
$5,000-$10,000	15 ac.	1,225	61 ac.	1,225
$10,000-$15,000	15 ac.	1,535	61 ac.	1,535
$15,000-$20,000	19 ac.	2,035	61 ac.	2,035
$20,000-$25,000	20 ac.	2,395	61 ac.	2,395
$25,000-$30,000	24 ac.	3,195	61 ac.	3,195
$30,000-$35,000	27 ac.	3,995	61 ac.	3,995
Over $35,000	32 ac.	3,247	61 ac.	3,247

There are two outstanding features in the above table:
(1) The wide difference in the size of farms for the same amount of capital in the various districts.
(2) The similarity in labor income for the same amount of capital in all districts. This is especially noticeable in all ranges of capital below $20,000, which includes the majority of farms in all three areas. Almost without exception the labor incomes of the dairy farmers are some what higher for equal capital investment than are either of the other two types of farms shown. This is a natural result of the larger and more continuous application of labor necessary by dairy farming.

The fact that in the group of high-out capital the fruit growers had the largest return would seem to indicate the adaptability of the fruit growing business to the profitable investment of very large amounts of capital, a condition rarely found in dairying and mixed farming. As a matter of actual fact over 30 per cent. of the Niagara farms studied had a total capital investment of over $30,000 while less than 24 per cent. of the Oxford dairymen and practically none of the Dufferin mixed farmers had total investments of this size.

Group	1	2	3	4	5
No. of farms	10	15	17	16	23
Size—acres	14	15	16	19	20
Total Capital	755	1,225	1,535	2,035	2,395
Land value per acre	54	82	96	107	118
Gross receipts	5,497	9,800	11,225	15,712	17,490
Current expense	3,994	4,221	4,221	4,221	4,221
Net current exp. to gross exp.	1,503	5,579	7,004	11,491	13,269
Receipts from grapes	643	1,501	1,879	2,777	3,195
Ratio of grape rets to gross rets	11.9%	15.3%	16.6%	17.6%	18.2%
Farm income	1,000	1,720	2,274	2,873	3,076
Labor income	294	720	1,360	1,994	2,204

In table 7 we have shown the effect of specialization in orchard crops for the year 1920. The 41 growers in the first two groups who specialized in orchard fruits, viz., apples, cherries, peaches, pears and plums, to the extent of securing over 60 per cent. of their revenue from these crops did not make nearly as large profits as the growers with a smaller percentage of orchards and more small fruit, vegetables, and grapes. This general effect is to be expected, as it has usually been found not economical to specialize above 70 per cent. in any one type of farm product if reasonably profitable side lines can be added to balance the yearly cycle of the business. The extreme tendency of this table from very low labor incomes for orchard specialists to high labor incomes for the more diversified types of business is obviously due in part to the comparatively low price of orchard fruits and the high price of small fruits and grapes during 1920. In Group 5, (orchard receipts under 20 per cent.) we find on 27 farms an average labor income of $2204, the highest in the table; 46 per cent. of the gross receipts $3223 out of an average total of $6373 was for grapes. On 14 out of the 27 farms grapes were practically the only fruit grown. On account of the high price of grapes, the comparatively low cost of growing and marketing and the low value of land suitable for grape growing this high labor income was possible in 1920. We have, however, no reason to believe that any one crop which can be grown over a reasonably wide area should continue to be more profitable than other crops.

If we take the land values per acre, which increased very markedly with increased orchard percentage ranging from $245 per acre to $495 per acre we have represented here not only the value of the planted orchards but the belief and faith of the orchardist in the value of his orchard land from the business of the past. We find the ratio of the current expense to the gross receipts steadily decrease as we come into the less specialized orchard farms, from 50 per cent. in Groups 1 and 2 to 48 per cent. in the last group.

This is due in part to the economy of greater profitability of grape and small fruit production for the year studied. If, however, we could remove from our labor incomes the profits on grapes, or if we had the results of a number of years' business, we believe that we should find the optimum profits in or close to Group 3 having about 50 per cent. of the revenue from orchards and the balance from other crops, the larger profits being due to the more economic specialization and production in the group.

An Indestructible Fence

(National Crop Improvement Service.)

"Two of the greatest enemies to every farm are bugs and weeds, but if you have a properly constructed fence, you can burn out the weeds along the fence lines without damage and rid yourself of both pests. Besides your fence is grounded wherever a steel post is used and danger to your live stock from lightning is greatly reduced," says Mr. R. S. Rider, president, Canadian Steel & Wire Company.

"The use of steel fence posts has become so general during recent years that there is no longer any question but what they are the solution of the fence post problem. While the wooden fence post still has many friends, it is usually not an economy because the labor in making that post and the comparatively short life of the post, makes it much cheaper to buy a steel post of the proper size for the work required of it."

"The steel post when properly made, is heavily galvanized inside and out with an extra heavy coat of rustless zinc below the ground line. There is another economy and that is that you can drive the steel posts without digging the holes, and the bottom of the post automatically spreads, making a wedge-shaped anchor to hold the post firmly in place. The man who wishes to sell his farm would be wise to replace his old ramshackle fence with a woven wire fabric on steel posts. It will enhance its value several thousand dollars and give it a look of thrift which is worth good money."

BATHING SUITS FOR SPORTS AFIELD

(BY MARIE BELMONT)

Some of the prettiest originations for sport wear reveal the use of plaid and plaid fabrics. This attractive suit is made from a blue and gold plaid united with plain blue material. The skirt, which is designed on straight lines, is trimmed with pockets whose legs are cut from the plaid fabric. The coat is also fashioned from the plaid blue, although the front shows a waistlike treatment of the plaid material. The belt, however, reverts to the plain blue, while the collar is made from the plaid. The large hat of blue straw is trimmed with marsh buttercups.

Obituary

MRS. ARTHUR T. HUNTER

A break in a large circle of friends has been caused by the sudden death on Monday morning, July 4, 1932, at her home on Maple Avenue, GRIMSBY, of Charlotte Johnson, wife of Arthur T. Hunter. The late Mrs. Hunter was born near what is now Vinemount, in the Township of Saltfleet in February, 1860, but at an early age came with her parents to live in GRIMSBY. She was the third daughter of the late Richard Johnson and Maria Robinson and had spent practically all her life in the GRIMSBY district. On her marriage in 1884 they moved to a farm on the Smithville road where they lived for several years. About twenty years ago they bought their present fruit farm on Maple Avenue. Besides many sorrowing relatives and friends there are of her immediate family her husband; one son T. R. (Easy) of GRIMSBY; one daughter, Mrs. (Florence) Ernest Driver of Woodstock; two brothers John and Richard E. of GRIMSBY; and three sisters, Mrs. Margaret Deits of Hamilton, Mrs. Hannah Wittenburg and Mrs. Austin E. House of GRIMSBY. Mrs. Hunter had been in her usual good health and spirits on Sunday evening and her death was wholly unexpected. About five o'clock on Monday morning other occupants of the house heard an unusual sound from her room and investigating found her in her last throes, also being unable to speak, and died almost immediately after. The funeral is being held this afternoon. Services will be held at the house at 2:30, thence to Queens Lawn Cemetery for interment.

MRS. AMOS E. FISHER

A resident of GRIMSBY Township since birth and respected by many friends, Mary Game Fisher, wife of Amos E. Fisher, Main street west, GRIMSBY, passed away on Sunday, June 26, 1932 at the Hamilton City hospital in her 61st year. Mrs. Fisher was born on the townline between North and South GRIMSBY, the second daughter of Isaac and Ann Game and resided there until her marriage in 1892, coming then to live at her late home. For many months Mrs. Fisher had suffered unconsciously and her demise was a relief in a pain wracked body. Deceased was an ardent adherent of St. John's Presbyterian church. Surviving to mourn are her husband, six sons, Wilmer of Stoney Creek, Lieut. Arthur of Windsor, Norman of the Union Bank of Montreal, Ernie, Wallace and Ray at home; two brothers William and Leslie of GRIMSBY; and seven sisters, Mrs. C. Rhodes of Tillbury, Mrs. Robert Cote of GRIMSBY, Mrs. Nellie Ditts of Toronto, Mrs. Calvin Parker of Stagers Falls, Ont., Mrs. David Fisher of GRIMSBY, Mrs. Bruce Walker of Vinemount and Miss Lena Game of Toronto. The funeral took place from her late residence on Sunday, July 2, to Queens Lawn cemetery, the Rev. L. H. Currie officiating and the six sons acting as pallbearers. The floral tributes were beautiful evidence of the friendliness borne the deceased and her family, among them being a large standing anchor from the GRIMSBY Baseball Club of which organization the three sons at home were members.

BEWARE OF NIGHT THIEVES

Several complaints have been received lately by the Chief of Police over people missing certain articles from their verandas and lawns during the night, and while no one yet has been actually caught in the act, the Chief is keeping an eye open on two or three young people who show signs of having nothing else to do but walk about at a very late hour. One case in particular is that of a lady, who wanting to make the house and grounds look pretty and attractive for the coming Old Boys and Girls Reunion, purchased a number of small palms some time ago, and after much hard work and trouble in the raising and growing, had the palms looking just lovely. She set them out in front of the house and was in the habit of leaving them out all night. Then some mean sneaking thief came along and removed the palms clean out of the pots. This kind of work is so low and degraded that the sooner the culprit is caught and handed a stiff sentence the better it will be for the community in general.

No. 6—Brantford and the Old Mohawk Church

Thus far we have covered Louisbourg and Prince Rupert; Niagara and Quebec and Lake Louise, and now we are in Ontario again, and once again hard by a typical inland Canadian River, the Grand. The objective spot is the Telephone City of Brantford, and the name of the place suggests the Little Trip. Brantford has been evolved from Brant's Ford, and Brant's Ford tells of the first ferry across the stream, and of the Mohawk Chief, Joseph Brant, who opened up that primitive route in a then primitive part of the unpopulated country. For the Red men had been given a tract of land along the Valley of the Grand for many a mile, in what has turned out to be one of the richest areas in the province. To-day a fine and thriving city straddles the stream. But its namesake has not been forgotten. In the centre of Victoria Park is a striking statue of the famous red warrior whose name has an honored place in Canadian history. It is said that when Tecumseh first met General Brock, the Shawnee Chief remarked: "There is a Man." One can say the same when looking upon the figure in the Brantford Park, as it faces the west with imposing mien and impressive dignity. So first call upon the great Chief as immortalized in bronze in the heart of the city that bears his name. Then continue the pilgrimage to the Indian Reserve, a few miles from the city, to the Old Mohawk Church, having the first Protestant place of worship erected in Upper Canada, the Ontario of to-day. A modest little frame structure, it is, but suggestive of the past in more than one direction. It dates back to 1783—sixty years before Upper Canada was formed under Governor Simcoe, and in it was placed the first church-going bell that ever tolled in the new province, presented by King George, while another of the treasures of the church is a communion set given by Queen Anne. Adjoining the Church is the grave of Brant, where his dust rests not far from the city that bears his name. It must ever be remembered that Brant remained loyal to Britain amid many temptations to throw in his lot with the Americans of that day. Another point of interest in this Little Trip is the Mohawk Village, a short distance further along the River, where the Council House of the Six Nations stands, and in which the solemn convales of the red men of the Reserve are still held. Their annual meetings are still of picturesque interest, especially when a pale-face or one of their own race is made a chief. On every hand are reminders of the great Mohawk Chief—a man of remarkable rectitude of character and influence, whose fame and renown still survive after the lapse of a century or more. To-day the Land of Brant is well worth a visit by the Canadian sightseer. Hard by is the famous Bow Park Farm, once owned by Hon. George Brown, and also a year by Tutelo Heights, where the modern telephone was invented by Alexander Graham Bell and where the first actual transmission of the human voice took place over three miles of wire. THREE SOLDIERS CAMPING ON NAVY ISLAND

Chippawa, June 23.—All ordinary efforts having failed, three soldiers have been sent to Navy Island by the Dominion Government to overawe bootleggers, is the opinion of many Canadian farmers along the adjacent mainland who do not deny that they themselves may have "run" a few loads not very long ago. In the town of Chippawa, and as far down as Niagara Falls, where ever old inhabitants and neighbors drink ginger beer and swap gossip, this story has been spread as authoritative. For when that fiery rebel against the family compact, William Mackenzie, gathered the toughs from the streets of Buffalo with a life and drums band to Navy Island for the invasion of Canada, its 400 acres are dotted with the landmarks of the results of looting and its "wicked concomitants." Half of the present joke is beautifully ironic because, figuring in all these convivial stories is the protecting saint garrison, which ostensibly has been sent by the Dominion Government to protect its property from damage now that the leases are to be renewed no more, is the very bootlegger who has been connected with the old adage that "where there is smoke there is fire." He himself, in deed, is amazingly and attractively frank in relating his distant and recent somewhat fashionable peccadilloes, so held in many quarters where breaches of the Ontario Temperance Act and a few other statutes are referred to with a covert wink of the eye. Past the northernmost point of Navy Island to Eolinta, a little suburb on the American shore, he has rowed "Oh, altogether about 500 Chinks" who, under cover of darkness escaped paying the stiff head tax on being turned back to Canada. Sometimes, like poor, pallid ghosts, they landed on the island, waiting for better luck, and slipping of the elixir of happiness and forgetfulness from the cases of hidden "plants."

"Was there much in it for you?" He was inquisitively asked.

"Oh, I don't know. At first we used to get only $50 a head for the Chinks, but later we made it $250. The trouble is you can't trust anybody these days. There's $700 and odd owing to me for Chinks and $1,300 for booze. Besides, just at present the mosquitoes are too bad."

The Soldiers
Beautiful and deceptive like the enchanted lakes which in the Greek legends, lured ancient mariners to an untimely fate, the wooded shore of the west side of Navy Island, broken by two bell tents and auxiliary shelters of the three soldiers, Corporal V. G. Dean and privates J. Smith and H. Corbin of the company at Toronto, enticed the Standard reporter and a photographer, piloted by Jas. Snider, a life-long resident of the neighborhood, in his rowboat across the half mile of channel between the island and the mainland.

Historic Isle in the Niagara River near Bridgeburg, which has been leased to an American company since 1837. The lease has been terminated by the Canadian Government. Navy Island is famous in history as the spot where a few soldiers rallied to the support of William Lyon Mackenzie in the Rebellion of 1837. Mackenzie proclaimed a republic of Canada in this tiny isle, and had a flag containing one star and two stripes as the emblem of his "Government."

Between the island and the mainland, a mile south of Chippawa. Of the roughly constructed shacks which housed Mackenzie's forces in 1837 not a trace, called "Snowball," now running wild, some rabbits, two ruins of houses and a single farm dwelling inhabited by a middle aged farmer named John Miller and his wife and three children, the only inhabitants, with the exception of the soldiers. Navy Island might be called an utterly lonely place.

Some History
It was in the old days before the Ontario Temperance Act complicated unrestricted conviviality that joy on Navy Island was unconfined. At the Navy Island Hotel—a massive stone cellar now alone remains since the building was pulled down for the lumber a few weeks ago, testified to the magnificence of the place at the southwest point of the island where the elite of Buffalo used to come to while away the golden hours before the automobile and the railway revolutionized modern life. It was in a large field near the hotel that a pitched battle between the celebrated 22d. Baker of Buffalo and Thompson, a Canadian, was staged 35 years ago. Mr. Snider recollects, just as the first grey light of daybreak illumined the ring, Thompson, who had ailed the ring, had to give up when he began to lose. Liquor flow-

Two Killed, Three Injured on Fifty Mountain Detour

Mrs. Thomas Gamble, aged 37, and Alfred Pardoe, aged 60, of Toronto, lost their lives in an auto accident on the Fifty Mountain Road, on Sunday afternoon, and at the same time Fred Hardiman, aged 62; Sydney Gallagher, aged 28, and Thomas Gamble, aged 27, were seriously injured. The party, of whom there were two more, Mrs. Pardoe, and Charles Baker, of Philadelphia, who escaped with slight injuries, were returning to Toronto from a trip through the fruit belt, and in coming down the long, steep pitch of the mountain, the brakes apparently gave out and the car started at a terrific pace for the "hair" which occur between the first pitch and the long one. A truck had had a similar experience some time before, and was in the left hand ditch where the driver had run, to save himself. Back of the truck was a space where the auto might possibly have swerved into an open field with only a barbed wire fence to contend with, but to reach that space the auto would have had to strike a fruit stand on the side of the narrow roadway. To avoid this, the driver endeavored to slow his car by running the two wheels into the shallow ditch and dragging the chassis on the ridge. But the speed apparently was too great, and the car crossed the ditch and struck a cherry tree glancingly. As it toppled over it struck another cherry tree about five inches through, snapping it off. The impact smashed the two front wheels in splinters, and one of the women in the rear seat went through the top of the car. The two killed were pinned beneath the car as it crumpled onto its side in the roadway. There were many people on the spot almost at once, and the car was lifted over. Dr. Thompson of Stoney Creek, and Dr. J. P. McMay of Grimsby were soon on the scene, and the injured were removed to Hamilton Hospital.

STILL THEY COME.

Several minor accidents are reported from the Fifty Mountain detour on Dominion Day and Saturday. Several trucks got into difficulties in trying to make the grade, but outside of damage to the trucks no one was injured. One big touring car turned turtle in the ditch, but the occupants were only shaken and bruised up.

A big Coca Cola truck out of Hamilton stalled on the first pitch of the Grimsby mountain last Thursday afternoon, and started to go backwards. The brakes failed to hold, and the nearer the truck got to the bottom, the faster it travelled. In its backward flight it struck a Ford Coupe and hurled it over on its side on Lee-Reeve Farrell's lawn, smashing it up pretty badly, and giving the driver of it several nasty cuts from flying glass. A Studebaker car coming behind the coupe narrowly averted being hit, by the driver running it up on another resident's lawn.

ALL UNDER UNION JACK

There has never been under single sway so great a part of the earth as is now British. Before the world war the empire was credited with 12,153,712 square miles, distributed thus:

	Square Miles.
In Europe	121,512
In Asia	2,187,550
In Africa	3,615,245
In North America	3,893,026
In Central America	5,500
In the West Indies	12,500
In South America	17,800
In Australasia	3,214,485
Total	12,153,712

To the foregoing may now be added the areas acquired in the late war and later peace. The Library of Congress states them thus:

Area	Sq. Miles.	Popul'n.
German colonies and dependencies in Africa, the Pacific and the South Seas	1,037,530	11,597,093
Palestine, including Sanjak of Jerusalem and Vilayet of Lebanon	7,794	541,000
Mesopotamia	143,250	2,900,000
Arabia (Hedjaz and Yemen)	107,350	1,000,000
Persia	638,000	2,500,000
Egypt	35,000	12,543,000
Total	2,964,940	37,567,593

Thus is made upon an empire of 15,417,652 miles and about 500 million souls. In three continents, North America, Europe and Asia, the empire is the most densely populated; in the fourth, Asia, her 3,214,485 square miles are sparsely settled.

Of her 500 million souls about 85 million are self-governing citizens; the rest, subjects. It is not purposed here to consider the merits or demerits of British administration in India and the other dependencies. On that point Englishmen themselves are as much divided as other people are as to what is best. It is enough to point out that the empire includes about a third of the world's people, and somewhat more than a quarter of its land, and that the axis of its power is the group of self-governing dominions of Canada, New Zealand, Australia, the Union of South Africa and the United Kingdom itself.—Century Magazine.

TABLE AND CHAIRS PAINTED GREY

Painted Furniture is Not Very Popular in England, and Cheerful Contrasting Colors in Hangings Will Make Very Pretty Effect.

As most apartments and small houses have the dining room opening off the living room, a color scheme should be outlined consistently blending with the deep sapphire blue of the living room described in last week's "First Aid to the Bride." French grey is a delightfully harmonious color, unusual for a dining room, yet suggesting a refreshing atmosphere.

Painted furniture has been gaining in popularity in England ever since a special exhibition of it was shown at Burlington House four years ago. Recent English journals have announced that Princess Mary has made it her choice for refurnishing her apartments. The exhibit in the academy of art by artistic application of design and workmanship, and it impressed one with the enormous scope offered to an amateur who seriously aspires to a work of simple and sincere design.

The faded brown tones in decoration, first introduced in Canada and the States by mission furniture, a reaction against the ornate and ugly Victorian style, has become monotonous and the present taste demands a newer note of decoration. This is only now becoming apparent, but with the assistance of true artists there may be created a modern art in decoration, or at least a revival of much of the best from the past which we see priced as low as $3.50, and a set of substantial pine chairs of the kitchen type, may be converted into a most fascinating and serviceable French-grey enamel dining room set two coats of paint are only absolutely necessary, but three coats attain a much superior effect—the first, a flat white, secondly a very pale flat grey, and finally the desired shade of delicate grey possessing an enamel finish which is best known as an inside varnish grey—equivalent to the enamel, which is much more difficult to apply correctly. Of course, each coat must be allowed to dry perfectly before attempting to apply the next one.

The ambitious painter who is interested in her work a touch of decoration could be ventured with patience—a very thin line of black and one of daffodil yellow on the curves of the backs of the chairs would accentuate the good taste of the grey.

(By the very oddest coincidence a very similar set of furniture to this—this had already been sketched by the writer—was on view this week in a fashionable shop window at a high price.)

The delicate reproduction of the grey tone would be heightened by the suggestion of color and the window curtains of cream hung under a brilliant daffodil-yellow and black chintz would establish the color scheme. A rather small oblong kitchen table with similar treatment might be successfully used as a buffet or serving table.

ON LADY, LADY

Whoops my dear, Winona Ladies have humbled the famous GRIMSBY Blues.

It's a sad and tale, nevertheless it must be told. GRIMSBY only scored 18 runs while the Winona gals were gathering in 23. Too bad.

Stoney Creek ladies team defeated Winona most decisively. GRIMSBY Blues triumphed over Stoney Creek by one run and then they thought they were unbeatable but Winona thought differently and on Monday night trimmed the local lassies very badly. Florence Norton was in the box for the locals and at times her shots had the westerners going around in circles but at other times they walloped her offerings all over the lot. The support provided by the local girls was never of the best at any time.

Winona and Stoney Creek played their second game last week and Winona won. Now they are going to play the third game for the Knitting Needle Championship on Thursday night in Winona. Let's go.

BEANSVILLE 6-FONTHILL 4

Beansville continued to fasten its hold on the first section of the Fruit Belt League on the holiday when Fonthill was handed a 6-4 defeat.

Gamble and White were the twirlers for Fonthill in the absence of Bowman, who had not recovered from his accident in GRIMSBY. Both boys were pitching good ball but not quite good enough to stop the Beansville heavy hitters. Beansville garnered all her runs in the fifth and sixth innings, while Fonthill collected only one at a time.

It was one of those old time games replete with fast fielding, clean hitting, heady work and plenty of argument.

BANZAI TO THE PEACH KINGS

Sound the trumpet and blow the horns. GRIMSBY Peach Kings won a ball game at the old ball lot on a 4-1 score.

"Wilkie" Wilcox was in the box for the locals with "Howie" Alexander behind the bat. The Tombstone lad was sure in form and pitched a beautiful game. He struck out twelve men and only two safe, sound solid hits were made off his delivery.

"Birdie" Bardett was holding down second in the absence of Wally Fisher and to all appearances was holding down several other positions. This lad played a fast nifty game and took everything that came within a block of him.

Marve Wentworth pulled off the nicest double play that has been seen hereabouts in many moons. He caught a nice high fly to centre and with that great whip of his pegged it to first before the base runner who went to second on the hit could get back to the base. It was nice work.

GRIMSBY scored one in the third inning and grabbed three in the fifth and that ended the scoring. Smithville scored her lone tally in the third inning.

Clare Davis was pitching for Smithville and the curly headed lad was hands to tighten it after exposed serving up a nice brand of ball. They said this kid throws a wicked plow.

SPORT TUTORIAL

Get out the book of M-story boys and record therein that GRIMSBY ball team has at last achieved a victory.

Banzai.

Dempsey and Carpenter split a $200-000 purse to be in the ring not more than far-eight minutes at the most. In sudden times things were different. In the days of the mighty John L. Sullivan people did not have the Cost of High Living down as scientific as they have today. Furses meant nothing to John L. He was ready at the drop of the hat in fight for one round or drink tea.

That Beansville-Fonthill game, in Beansville on the holiday was a six-aler. It was one of those old time affairs where all friendship ceased the minute the umpire called play ball. There was a lot of money wagered on the outcome of the game, and this as usual was the incentive for a lot of rag chewing and threatened fights among the fans.

The sympathy of the entire sporting fraternity throughout this district is extended to the Fisher boys on the death of their best friend and supporter, their mother, which took place in Hamilton Hospital, last week.

Battling averages have taken a big slump since the hot spell arrived. The pitchers' old soup bones have come back to form fast with the 100 in the shade weather and as a consequence the hickory welders have been fanning the air with regularity.

Domination Day was to have been the opening of the second section of the Fruit Belt and Ball League. But the games were called off because some of the players were going out of town and the second game was not played because all the players, and none of the players, turned up. This League at the present time is in a chaotic state. Not over half the games in the first section have been played, let alone getting started on the second section. All that is wrong with the whole works is that there are too many leagues and too many teams in existence, with the result that none of them are setting anywhere. A warning to this effect was handed out in these columns some weeks ago and our words are proving true. Too many ball leagues and too many games kill them all.

handle when at home on the farm and on performance on Saturday he also throws a wicked speed ball.

"Doc" McMay is happy now, for his team won a game. It was far from being the regular line-up and that makes the victory all the more sweet.

CRICKET

The Saint Georges Cricket club of Hamilton lost their league match on the holiday when they were defeated by the GRIMSBY Eleven by 20 runs, the score standing 163 to 43. The Saints batted first, but runs were hard to get against the bowling of Wolfenden and Drupe. Harry Blunt gave a spirited exhibition for 23, going in last and carrying his bat. This was the treat of the day. Meredith and Capt. Dewberry with 11 each, and Hughes with 10 were the other double figures.

Ryan for GRIMSBY made top score (25) and gave a fine exhibition of batting. Russell and Wilkinson also showed good form.

Wise and Pennett were the best of the Saints' bowlers, while Wolfenden and Drupe did best work for the winners.

"Red" Field of Beansville handled the indicator in the GRIMSBY-Smithville game on Saturday and his work was par excellence. Not one kick of any kind was registered against his decisions and even the rabid umpire battling crowd were strangely silent. The flaxen haired boy showed the populace that he was just as good an arbiter as he was a pitcher. Both teams were highly pleased with his work.

Domination Day was to have been the opening of the second section of the Fruit Belt and Ball League. But the games were called off because some of the players were going out of town and the second game was not played because all the players, and none of the players, turned up.
